CIM is a fiduciary of its Clients and owes each Client an affirmative duty of good faith and full and fair disclosure of all material facts. The SEC has stated that this duty is particularly pertinent whenever the adviser is in a situation involving a conflict or potential conflict of interest. We must affirmatively exercise authority and responsibility for the benefit of Clients and may not participate in any activities that may conflict with the interests of Clients. In addition, we must avoid activities, interests and relationships that might interfere or appear to interfere with making decisions in the best interests of our Clients. Accordingly, at all times, we must conduct our business as set forth in our Code of Ethics. CIM will provide a copy of our Code of Ethics to any client or prospective client upon request.

It is the expressed policy of CIM, that no employee may purchase or sell any security (other than mutual fund shares) prior to a transaction(s) being implemented for an advisory account thus preventing such person from benefitting from transactions placed on behalf of advisory accounts. CIM employees may buy or sell securities identical to those recommended to clients for their personal accounts. Additionally, employees may have an interest or position in a certain security which may also be recommended to a client. As these situations represent a conflict of interest, CIM has established the following restrictions in order to ensure its fiduciary responsibilities:

- 1.) An employee of CIM shall not buy or sell securities for his or her personal portfolio where his/her decision is substantially derived, in whole or in part, by reason of his or her employment unless the information is also available to the investing public on reasonable inquiry. No employee shall prefer his or her interest to that of an advisory client.

- 2.) CIM maintains a list of all securities holdings for itself, and anyone associated with the advisory practice with access to advisory recommendations. These holdings are reviewed on a regular basis by CIM.
- 3.) CIM emphasizes the unrestricted right of the client to decline to implement any advice rendered, except in situations where CIM is granted discretionary authority for the client's account.
- 4.) CIM requires that all employees act in accordance with all available federal and state securities regulation and rules governing investment advisors.
- 5.) Any person not in observance of the above is subject to termination.
